Taxpayers paying extra for education reform

BY DENA BISNETTE
Taxpayers in the Bay St. Louis-Waveland School District, as well as other districts in the state, are paying extra for implementation of the Mississippi Education Reform Act of 1982.

Superintendent of Education Roger Oge, who with superintendents from Moss Point and Biloxi co-authored a report on the matter for the Gulf Coast School Superintendents' Association, said the mandates of the act have caused increases in local school district taxes.

The report criticizes the legislature and the State Board of Education for "putting the cost burden on local taxpayers," Oge explained.

He said local districts are having to make up for state cuts and pay new program costs for which the legislature provided inadequate funds or no funds.

For example, the legislature mandated teacher pay raises but did not provide full funding. In the Bay St. Louis-Waveland District, $90,000 for those raises had to come from local funds this year, Oge said.

Next year, the district will have to pay $105,000 in raises.

He cited kindergarten, which is a new program implemented this year under Educational Reform Act mandates, as a second example. Kindergarten is costing the district $50,000 this year.

Several existing programs are receiving less state funding than last year and further reductions were indicated during a meeting last week between some of the state's school superintendents and state officials, Oge added.

These include transportation, which is requiring a $10,000 local subsidy this year; administration, which is adding another $10,000 in local costs; and textbooks, which are costing $30,000 locally.

The report specifies three major problems that could jeopardize "the achievement of expectations which the public holds for educational improvements and the reform which the legislature enacted."

They include:
—The practice of the legislature, State School Board and State

Department of Education requiring mandated programs and not providing adequate funds or essential support services may well result in the discreditation of local school districts or in the imposition of burdensome taxes on local school district property owners so severe that it could become a detriment to the perceived and real economic well-being of individual communities.

—The excessive and, in many cases, minimally beneficial regulations imposed by the legislature and State School Board are resulting in the use of scarce resources to meet compliance requirements rather than prioritizing the use of the resources for effecting long-term improvements.

—The absence of an acceptable pay scale for teachers and the practice of both the legislature and the state school board exercising disruptive and/or punitive impositions on teaching personnel which may result in intensifying and hastening a critical shortage of teachers in the state.

"It is essential that teachers not be driven from the classrooms because of political actions and rhetoric which offer little or no benefit for improvement—but rather serve as distractions and demoralize teachers who are essential to the well-being of public schools."

Oge said he has no complaints related to these problems as far as local legislators are concerned, because none have been the results of their actions.

As for the majority of legislators, he stated, "The many Jackson politicians have proudly boasted of no tax increases. In my opinion, such statements are a cruel joke with the public being the brunt of the joke."

Regarding the use of the district's financial resources for meeting mandates, the superintendent said, "Many of the program mandates from Jackson are certainly worthwhile and will lead to a better system of public education."

"However, local boards and administrations are in many ways having their options limited in designing programs to meet the needs of their students in the most appropriate fashions."

"A classic example is the state's push for fully certified librarians when other needs are much more pressing."

Oge said the requirements for evaluation of teachers are among the most pressing problems.

"The final result of these misdirected efforts to evaluate teachers has been to drive the good teachers from the profession or else demoralize them to the point where they are less than fully effective in the classroom."

"In the final analysis, all of our children suffer as a result of these three factors," the superintendent added.

Negotiations underway

Tax substation remains possibility for Waveland

BY DENA BISNETTE

A substation of the Hancock County Tax Collector and Assessor's Office in Waveland may still be a possibility.

The Waveland Board of Aldermen met Wednesday with Hancock County Assessor-Tax Collector Edward Murtagh to discuss the possibility that Waveland City Hall be designated as a location for payment of county taxes as well as city taxes.

Murtagh said the only possible way to set up a substation would be to set up a computer linked by telephone to the computer system in the courthouse annex.

"We have to run everything through our computers now. It would be the only way," he explained.

Murtagh also said he understands that some legislation may be introduced during the 1987 session that may require the county to handle all tax collections, including those for cities.

Presently, the county tax office handles collections for Bay St. Louis as well as for the county. The office also assists Waveland with various services, including printing and mailing.

"We have no complaints about you or the way you run your office. We think you're doing a super job. All we want to do is increase the service we give our people," Mayor John Longo Jr. said.

"We don't think that it would take anything away from you. We think it would be another feather in your cap," the mayor added.

He praised the operation of the county tax office, particularly the work Murtagh had done with regard to reappraisal and his assistance in training Waveland's tax collection personnel and conducting the city's annual tax sale.

Longo said he would like

Waveland City Hall to act as a one-stop tax center for city residents as well as residents of nearby county areas like Lakeshore and Clermont Harbor.

"We would just collect it and turn it over to you," the mayor explained.

"We're perfectly willing to use your resources."

Murtagh pointed out that with today's computerized system a taxpayer need not actually leave his residence to pay his taxes because he can do so by mail.

"It's just the amount of old people we have who still say 'I wish I could pay all my taxes in Waveland,'" Longo said.

The city board and Murtagh had not actually discussed the matter before, but Waveland had accepted a resolution asking that the county consider using Waveland City Hall as a substation.

Murtagh's response was published as a letter to the editor of the Sea Coast Echo.

"What we needed was prior communication," Murtagh said.

"The war was fought in the press. It shouldn't have been that way," Ward One Alderman Barbara Rapold said.

The board asked Murtagh to provide a cost estimate on a computer hook-up for Waveland.

In other business, the board:

—Took bids under advisement on a security system for Waveland City Hall and Waveland Civic Center;

—Approved naming Herlihy Street Park, which has no official name, Martin Luther King Jr. Memorial Park and agreed that representatives of the board should attend a Jan. 18 ribbon cutting ceremony at the park; and —Approved a proposal by Longo that a police officer should attend all city meetings.

The board meets again Jan. 2.

Tish Haas to develop tourism in Meridian

MERIDIAN—Bay St. Louis native Tish Haas, marketing director for the Mississippi Coast College in Hattiesburg, has been selected as first executive director of the newly formed Lauderdale County Tourism Commission.

Brenda Hiatt, chairman of the commission said, "She brings to this position a tremendous amount of experience in management, tourism and convention sales, advertising, public relations and promotions."

"We believe that Haas has the background we need to develop and successfully implement an aggressive tourism program that will maximize the short and long term economic returns to our area," Hiatt stated.

Specifically, Haas will be responsible for designing and managing the day-to-day commission activities, as well as development and implementation of administrative services, convention and tourism sales programs; and development of positive relations with the community, governmental officials and media representatives.

She will also be responsible for managing all aspects of the commission's advertising program which will be created to promote events and attractions in the Lauderdale County area.

During the 1985 Legislative Session, local representatives introduced House Bill number 1246 to authorize the Lauderdale County Board of Supervisors to create the commission.

The bill, following a 1986 amendment, provides for funding the commission by a two and one-half percent tax on the gross proceeds from room rentals of hotels and motels in the county.

The tax, which went into effect July 1, has averaged monthly collections of approximately $18,000.

Based on these actual collections, the commission developed and approved an annual budget for the fiscal year beginning Oct. 1 of $200,000.

In addition, the commission has developed and adopted specific preliminary short and long term goals and objectives, some of which have already been attained, such as:

—Improvement of convention facilities;

—The active solicitation of convention business and sports tournaments;

—The employment of a professional tourism specialist; and —The development, improvement and publicizing of local attractions.

"I believe that the Lauderdale County area has a great deal to offer consumer and trade markets, and I am honored to be selected as the commission's executive director," said Haas.

"The most important element that this area possesses is a strong commitment to developing tourism for this community," Haas continued.

"Secondarily, there is easy accessibility to Meridian by ground or air transportation. This, coupled with the area's unique attractions and events, good quality of life and strong industrial base will provide this commission with the foundation for developing a program that will maximize our tourist potential."

Haas is a graduate of the University of Mississippi with a degree in journalism.

She is the daughter of Judge and Mrs. Michael Haas of Bay St. Louis.

Letter to Santa

Dear Santa,

How are you? How is Mrs. Santa? For Christmas I wish I had a Jim skirt and shirt, also Rio, Pazzas & Jim.

I'll leave you pecan pie and milk. For my Mom bring her a cordless phone and for my Dad bring him leather saddle bags for his bike.

Thank you
Love, Melissa

In Memoriam

CHRISTMAS WISH

Dear Lord, it's nearly Christmas but the spirit isn't strong.

I want to ask a question—please forgive me if I'm wrong.

Is there a Santa Claus in Heaven and a lovely Christmas tree?

Oh, Lord, please let them be there—it would mean so much to me.

You took our little angel home. Now he doesn't have the joys of presents and a stocking like other girls and boys.

Dear Lord, he was so very good, hoping Santa'd come his way.

Please give him what we couldn't, Lord, on this lonely Christmas Day.

Our hearts are with you, Love

Mother and Grandparents

ETV Brief

DOCUMENTARIES WARN

New Year's Eve is traditionally a time of celebration, and many people unfortunately celebrate with too much to drink. Two special programs on Mississippi ETV Dec. 29 address the problem and warn of the dangers of drinking and driving.

At 7:30 p.m., Monday, Dec. 29, "Dead Drunk" takes a new look at the problem and presents facts to contradict some common misconceptions about drinking and driving.

According to the findings of the Presidential Commission on Drunk Driving, the majority of unnecessary deaths were not necessarily "innocent victims;" the study pointed out that of all alcohol-related highway deaths, 52 percent were the drunk drivers themselves; 20 percent were willing passengers; many of whom were intoxicated; and 11 percent were drunk pedestrians.

In a rebroadcast of "Drinking and Driving: The Toll, the Tears" at 9 p.m., Monday, Dec. 29, a widow, a teen-age girl, a prisoner, a step-father and others trapped in the aftermath of alcohol-related traffic accidents tell their stories.

Washington television reporter Kelly Burke produced the documentary as part of his sentence after he was involved in an alcohol-related accident in which one man was killed.

Burke conceived the idea of trying to communicate through television so that others might learn from his experience and avoid a similar tragedy.

Holiday schedule

The Hancock County Court House will be closed Dec. 25-26.

The Hancock County Landfill at Catahoula will be closed Christmas Day and New Years Day.

Energy assistance available for low-income Mississippians

The Office of Energy and Community Services (OECS), Governor's Office of Federal-State Programs, has received $13,403,793 for the Low-Income Home Energy Assistance Program (LIHEAP) to provide low-income Mississippians with one-time assistance in paying heating and cooling bills.

To be eligible for LIHEAP assistance, household income cannot exceed 130 percent of the federal poverty level, based upon household size, and applicants must show they are responsible for heating or cooling payments. Households that receive federal Food Stamps do not need to provide income data for eligibility.

Applications will be taken, and eligibility determined, by 19 community action agencies and three units of local governments. Currently, applications are being accepted only for households that include at least one handicapped individual or senior citizen (60 and over). Applications from others will be accepted beginning Dec. 22.

Because Congress cut its LIHEAP appropriation from $2.1 billion to $1.82 billion, Mississippi's share is nearly $2 million less than last year. In order to serve as many low-income Mississippians, OECS has reduced the maximum payment from $240 to $160. The minimum payment is $30, with the exact amount determined by household size and income, the region of the state and the type of heating fuel.

Last year, 61,860 Mississippi households (144,222 individuals) received LIHEAP payments averaging $176. One change in the program this year will provide payments directly to some heating vendors to speed up assistance.

LIHEAP information may be obtained by calling the Governor's Service Line at 354-4540 or 354-4542 from the Jackson area, or 1-800-222-7622, toll-free, from other parts of the state.

USM researcher deep-dives to Gulf floor

HATTIESBURG—An oceanographer from the University of Southern Mississippi's Center for Marine Science is among a select group of research scientists probing a dark and remote site inhabited by strange and exotic creatures some 10,000 feet below the surface of the Gulf of Mexico.

Dr. George Knauer, director of USM's marine science center, based at NASA's National Space Technology Laboratories in Hancock County, recently made an eight-hour dive to a world of red-fleshed clams, one-meter-long tube worms, specialized crabs and eel-like fish in the same diving machine used to explore the wreckage of the ill-fated "Titanic" ocean liner.

"It's a real light show when you are down there," Knauer said of his gulf experiences in the deep-sea research submersible popularly known as "Alvin." "It's like seeing a galaxy from a space ship when the lights are turned on, and you see those bizarre animals."

Knauer said the Alvin carried a crew of three and was tracked by its mother ship to and from the site as it made its tedious way along the uneven deep-water banks in conditions that are "black as pitch."

"It takes two hours to go down and two hours to come up," Knauer said. "The Alvin is only capable of two-to-three knots of speed and the dives can be very dangerous."

Peering through small side and center portholes, Knauer and his companions reached their destination nearly two miles below the surface with a recording of the Rolling Stones rock group playing on Alvin's stereo system.

Shoeless to maintain a clean environment, the crew dined on peanut butter and bologna sandwiches while they worked, documenting the site and collecting samples with Alvin's claw-like arms. Outside the pressurized cabin, the water—too salty to freeze—measured 15 degrees F.

The busy trio of scientists stayed on the bottom until all three of Alvin's built-in alarm systems had sounded. The alarms indicate the amount of power remaining in the ship's batteries and the availability of breathable air reserves.

Cramped in the small diving chamber, the scientists slowly returned to the surface from the site, located off the western coast of Florida in an area known as the Florida Escarpment.

The escarpment research was a joint effort by investigators from Woods Hole Oceanographic Institution (home port for the Alvin and its 300-foot mother ship, Atlantis II), Harvard and Rutgers universities, the University of Hawaii, Louisiana State University and USM.

Knauer, a nationally known oceanographer, joined the faculty and administration at USM in the fall of 1986 as professor and director of the Center for Marine Science.

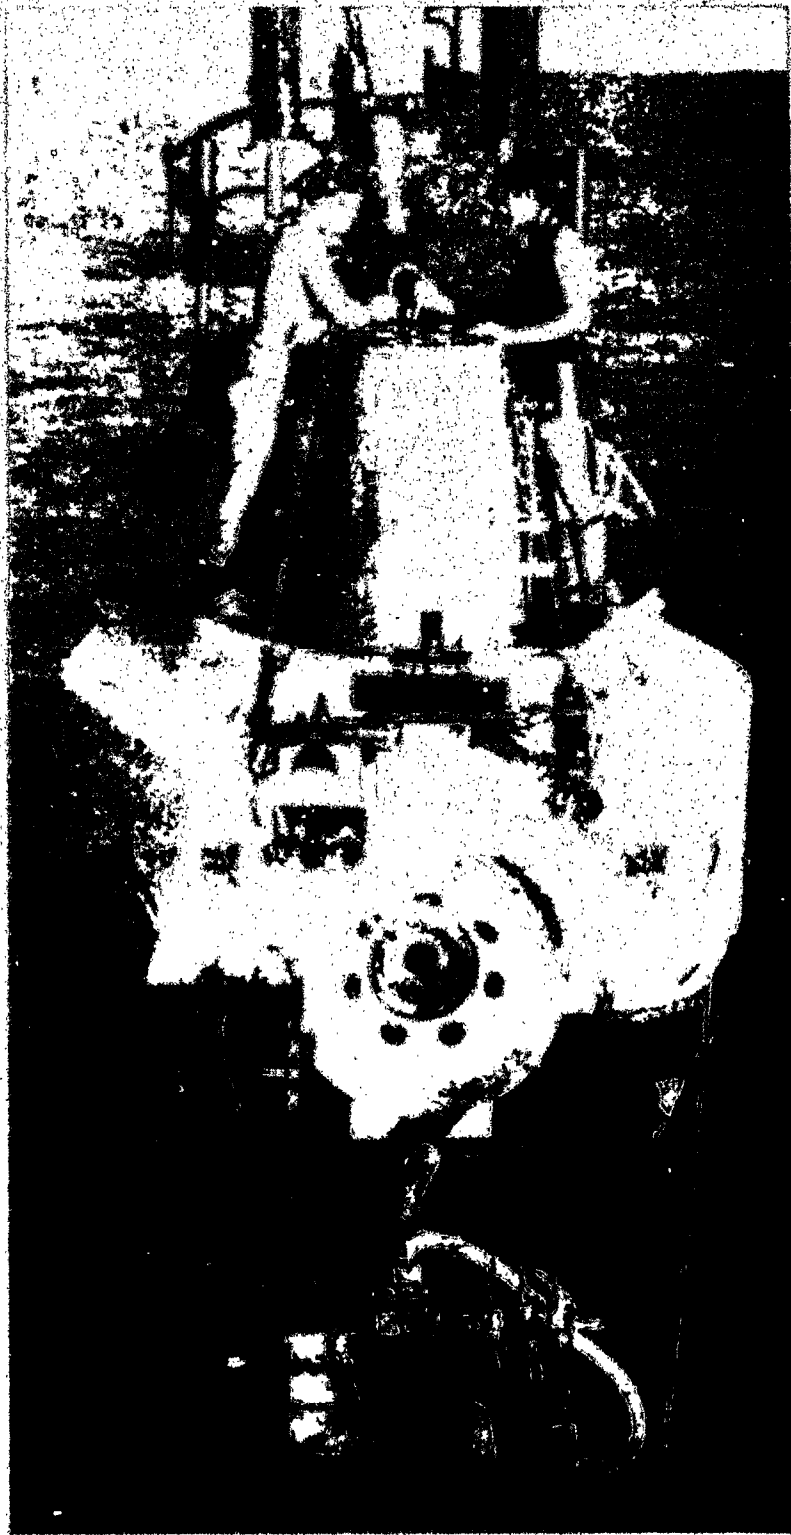

The USM center was designated as one of three USM "centers of excellence" by the state college board in 1982. Located at the NASA facility near Piquette, the marine center offered its first graduate classes during the 1986 fall semester.

In 1982, USM also received board approval for centers of excellence in its communications and computer science programs. The university maintains those centers on the USM campus.

Quotables by CUEVAS

During the Holiday Season many folks are attending parties and some may be drinking a little too much to be driving.

The Holiday Seasons are when so many people lose their lives due to traffic accidents and some of the drivers are drinking.

I have had conversation on Friday with Hancock County Sheriff Ronald Peterson, Bay St. Louis Police Chief Ray Murphy, and Waveland Police Chief Donald Dorn, and all three are urging residents having a little too much to drink to please call their respective departments for transportation home.

This is a service offered to the public by our law enforcement agencies in order to try and eliminate holiday fatalities.

Police officers would much rather drive someone home from a party than to have to investigate an accident caused by someone drunk.

It is hoped all citizens celebrating a little too much will remember to have someone sober to drive them home.

The sheriff's office telephone number is 467-5101; Bay police, 467-9221; and Waveland police, 467-3669.

We are hoping everyone will have a Safe and Happy Holiday Season.

News From The Governor's Office

Gov. Bill Allain

MANY PROGRAMS COMPETING FOR LIMITED TAX DOLLARS

Last week I had the pleasure of speaking to the Mississippi Association of School Superintendents during their annual Legislative Conference.

The focus of this session was to point out that education is only one element of a very big state budget. Many components form our state budget, and they must all be considered when state-funded project directors make up their budget needs.

It is very easy for agencies to say how much money they need, but it's very difficult when they consider that we all fit into this budget picture together.

Highways should be considered problems for the education people; mental health should be considered problems for the corrections people; higher education should be a problem for the health people; and so forth.

Each is just as much a problem for each agency as for the people running that organization or agency.

We've got to realize the hard facts and the reality. The people who want to build highways should also help to build schools. The people who want to house mental patients should also help to house legal offenders. The circle goes on and on.

We elected officials are officers of the whole state. I am the Governor of the senior citizens and the state employees, of the school children and the mental patients, of the citizen who wants a safe community and the people who can't help themselves.

In addition, this year the Legislature will be facing these problems during an election year. Each legislator will have to be closely attuned to the needs back home, to their community constituencies.

While highways may be important in North Mississippi, mental health may be important in Rankin County where the state hospital is located, and universities more important in college towns.

We can't just say raise taxes and be done with our leadership responsibilities. What message does it send to businesses when we start talking about raising corporate taxes?

We've still got a lot of restructuring to do, especially regarding our transportation system and our university system. Placing millions and even billions of dollars into the old systems will not solve the long-term problems. Only better planning and restructuring for the future will improve our antiquated state government system.

PREMENSTRUAL SYNDROME: IT CAN BE TREATED

Q. What is premenstrual syndrome and how do I know if I have it? Is PMS associated with a disease?

A. Physicians gave little credence to women's premenstrual complaints in the past because the variety of physical and emotional symptoms made a cause and effect relationship difficult to determine. These complaints were often brushed aside as psychological.

Today, that notion has fortunately changed. Women can and do experience premenstrual discomfort and pain, as well as a wide spectrum of other symptoms associated with the menstrual cycle.

More than 70 percent of women are aware of physical and emotional changes during the week or two before the onset of the menses.

Symptoms include fatigue, anxiety, mild to severe behavior changes and mood swings, headaches, depression, breast tenderness, weight gain, changes in appetite and food cravings, as well as sleep problems.

Women in the childbearing years may experience any number of these physical and mental changes in a wide range of severity—prior to menstruation.

The symptoms in some cases can be temporarily disabling and interfere with one's work and lifestyle. All symptoms aren't troubling, however, and in fact, some may be very positive.

A number of women experience increased creativity and ambition immediately before menstruation.

No one knows what causes the symptoms of PMS, but a woman doesn't have to suffer from any one or a combination of symptoms to seek help. Among the factors associated with PMS are imbalanced hormone levels, low blood sugar and nutritional insufficiencies.

Many physicians now agree that the premenstrual syndrome is commonplace. The symptoms or group of symptoms which constitute a diagnosis of PMS haven't universally been agreed upon. A person can keep a daily diary for two or three months which documents the menstrual cycles to help determine particular symptoms.

While a precise record may not be necessary, it can be useful for discussing some of the types of treatment with a physician.

The best treatment for most women who experience symptoms associated with premenstrual syndrome is conservative. It usually involves diet, exercise and stress reduction.

A physician may approach treatment in a step-by-step fashion, first with diet changes, such as removing caffeine, then adding exercise and stress management. These efforts will in most cases help decrease certain symptoms.

If conservative treatment doesn't succeed, other non-drug therapies may be attempted. Most doctors agree that drug or hormone therapy should be used only as a last resort because possible adverse side effects may be caused by these medications.

Bay St. Louis signs—some new, some old

Dec. 18, 1986
The Editor
Sea Coast Echo
Bay St. Louis

Sir:

Bully for Bay St. Louis! I was absolutely delighted to see the new sign on Highway 90, near the bridge. It is eye-catching and I do hope it will attract lots of visitors to the town. In the few short years I have been here, Bay St. Louis has improved considerably. I am sure this is all due to the support of the residents and the City Fathers.

However, I do wish the old speed signs on Beach Boulevard would disappear. As I understand it, the speed limit is now 25 m.p.h. unless posted to the contrary. It can be very confusing to visitors who, obeying the old signs, are then stopped by the police and told they are speeding!

Keep up the good work, Bay St. Louis. Who knows, in a few years it may be such a nice jolly, happy place to live that the name should be changed to Gay St. Louis.

Sincerely,
Valerie Fisher

ROAD FUND SURPLUS

There was good news in Hinds County a few days ago.

The county's board of supervisors reported it was spreading more than $800,000 through the county's seven municipalities. The money, said the supervisors, was to be used to improve streets in those incorporated areas.

The source of the surplus funds was noteworthy.

County Comptroller Pat Griffin said the funds came from "savings the county realized in consolidating road and bridge construction and maintenance operations this year."

Other Mississippi counties should take note that in the first year after Hinds County decided to adopt the unit system, it finds itself with a road fund surplus of almost a million dollars.

Perhaps Hinds County, the most heavily populated county in the state, could become the model county Mississippi needs as it moves toward a total unit system under its new county administrator

Coast retarded group conducting membership drive

Thousand of letters have been mailed to coast residents as the main thrust of the Gulf Coast Society for Retarded Citizens annual membership drive, according to Bill Hoesell, this year's chairman of the drive.

A good response could fund the society's pre-school for a year, according to Drew Allen, the organization's president.

Its pre-school, PEEF, is for infants to age three who are physically and/or mentally handicapped. It offers speech and physical therapy as well as psychological support and respite care for students' parents or guardians.

But the pre-school is just one of several programs the society has begun since its founding in 1959 as the Harrison County Association for Retarded Children.

During these 28 years the organization has sponsored summer camps; it has campaigned for the passage of the 1968 bond issue to build the Harrison County Training Center for Exceptional Children; it was the parent organization for the building of the Cheshire Group Home in Gulfport, which houses twelve young men and women who are mentally handicapped; it has run an adult activity center; it has been involved in many other programs of public information and referral.

A major unmet need, however, is a program to help young adults bridge the wide gap between school and the world of work, said Rosemary Wallace, the Society's executive director.

Wallace explained that more functional skill training as well as job training and placement are needed.

Even though the agency is one of the United Way, president Allen said, it has to rely heavily on donations and/or memberships, which are tax-deductible, for most of its funding to remain operative.

He also said that all of the funds are used here on the coast. The organization receives no city, county, state, or federal funding.

Wallace states that one does not have to receive a letter about the membership drive in order to participate since there would be no way to send one to every coast resident. Individual memberships are $10, family - $25, and any amount is greatly appreciated.

For further information on the society, write to GCSRC, P.O. Box 587, Gulfport, MS 39520, or call 864-9421.

For your "life and breath," the Mississippi Lung Association suggests the following "Ten Rules for Lung Health."

—Don't smoke!

—If you do smoke, quit! Ask your Mississippi Lung Association for help to "Kick the Habit."

—Avoid second-hand smoke, especially in crowded and poorly ventilated rooms.

—If you have a persistent cough, frequent colds, or if you are out of breath after simple exercise, consult your doctor.

—If you already have a lung disorder, ask your doctor about a flu or pneumonia shot.

—If you have been in contact with someone who is sick with tuberculosis, consult your doctor.

—Check for lung hazards on the job and in the home products you use—and try to eliminate them or protect yourself.

—Keep small objects that can be inhaled out of reach of small children.

—Be sure your children have the proper immunizations and booster shots. Ask the doctor or nurse which ones.

Christmas caution prevents fire tragedy

(Presented as a public service by the Mississippi State Medical Association and this newspaper.)

The holiday season is potentially a very dangerous one. Precautions against fire and adherence to general safety rules are of the utmost importance when Christmas preparations are being made, reminds the Mississippi State Medical Association.

Fire is the greatest single contributor to Christmas tragedy. The dangers of fire in the home are compounded during the holidays due to the presence of trees, trimmings, lights, candles, and paper decorations which would not normally be in the home.

The primary causes of home fires during Christmas are lighted candles, fireplaces, trees which become too dry, and faulty electrical connections. Common sense and adherence to a few basic safety rules can drastically reduce the number of home fires. The following guidelines should be used to assure a safe and merry Christmas:

—Make an emergency plan to use if fire breaks out.

—Have telephone numbers of fire and emergency squads handy.

—Keep matches, lighters and candles out of the reach of children.

—Never burn candles near evergreens or in drafts from open windows, heating or air conditioning systems.

—Never burn candles in the middle of dried flower arrangements, cut pine, balsam or holly.

—Never burn evergreens in a fireplace, as dry greens burn like tinder and can flare out of control, sending sparks flying about the room.

Special precautions should also be taken with the Christmas tree because chemical coatings or sprays cannot be relied upon to flame-proof it. A fresh tree will stay green longer and be less of a fire hazard than a dry one. A fresh tree is green.

Its needles are hard to pull from its branches and do not break when bent between your fingers. Its trunk is sticky with resin, and a shower of needles does not fall to the ground when it is shaken.

The tree should be placed away from fireplaces, radiators, and other heat sources. It should also be out of the way of traffic and not block any doorways.

The tree, after two inches of its trunk is removed, should be mounted in a sturdy, water-holding stand with wide-spaced legs and fastened to the wall or ceiling with thin guy wires which will be nearly invisible. The base should be kept full of water while the tree is indoors because heated rooms dry trees out rapidly, creating fire hazards.

Federal funds boost Highway Patrol efforts against holiday drunk driving

JACKSON—Mississippi Highway Safety Patrol officials say drunken drivers may run but they won't be able to hide from the strong arm of the law during the Christmas and New Year's holidays.

A coordinated effort against driving under the influence of drugs or alcohol is in effect on selected state and federal highways, county roads and city streets for 11 days beginning Saturday, Dec. 20, according to James L. Roberts Jr., commissioner of public safety.

"When drunken drivers and other law breakers see officers manning roadblocks in one place, they frequently seek another direction of travel to avoid being caught," Roberts said.

"The combined efforts of state, county and municipal law enforcement agencies in selected areas will make such detour attempts fruitless.

"For example, during the coordinated enforcement effort, if a drunken driver is observed leaving a state or federal highway to avoid a roadblock he may encounter a sheriff's deputy or municipal officer anticipating his arrival on their roads or streets," the commissioner said.

With assistance from the Highway Safety Division of the Governor's Office of Federal-State Programs, the Mississippi Highway Safety Patrol can finance 576 manhours of roadblock duty, and an additional 576 manhours of road patrol duty.

"The funds, earmarked especially for enforcement of the driving under the influence of drugs or alcohol law, will pay the services of 36 state troopers on five details in each of the nine Highway Patrol districts during the 11-day period," Roberts said.

The special details, augmenting the patrol's regular enforcement efforts, will be troopers who would ordinarily be off duty.

Traffic fatalities are up by 14 percent across the state compared to the 1985 figures. A total of 728 people have been killed in 1986 while 637 died in 1985 through the same day.

Cot. D.D. Cvitanovich, Highway Patrol chief, said, "The traffic fatality count is up in Mississippi by 89 people through December 17 compared to the same time period in 1985.

"I believe traffic fatalities are up due to disrespect of the law by certain segments of the motoring public," he said.

Based on a National Highway Administration study, more than 50 percent of all fatal accidents are alcohol related.

"Each time a trooper apprehends a drunken driver, or cites a driver who has committed a hazardous driving violation, he prevents a possible fatal accident. That is why the additional manpower comes at such a good time," the chief said.

The temporary situation exists where our trooper strength is lower than it has been in recent years. The extra enforcement provided by funding from the Governor's Office of Federal-State Programs will enable us to provide better services to the motorists in this state," the chief said.

The 54-hour Christmas holiday observance begins Tuesday, Dec. 23 at 6 p.m. and ends Thursday, Dec. 25, 1986, at midnight.

Traffic deaths recorded by the Highway Patrol between 1986 and 1985 show the Christmas holiday period, with 222 deaths, is second to Thanksgiving as the deadliest of the six major holidays observed.

During the 1985 Christmas observance, three people died as a result of vehicle crashes and the Highway Patrol made 27 DUI arrests.

The 54-hour New Year's holiday begins at 6 p.m. on Tuesday, Dec. 30, 1986, and ends Thursday, Jan. 1, 1987, at midnight.

The New Year's observance during the 20-year period from 1966 through 1985 has claimed the lives of 145 people which is the fewest traffic deaths recorded during any of the six major holidays.

During the 1985 New Year's observance three people died as the result of vehicle crashes and the Highway Patrol arrested 30 drivers on DUI charges.

Lt. Col. Don O'Cain, assistant chief of patrol, said the Louisiana Legislature voted this week to raise the purchasing age of beer and light wine to 21. The measure is similar to the one that became effective in Mississippi on October 1, 1986.

"This enactment by Louisiana, which becomes effective March 15, 1987, may assist us in our efforts to maintain safe highways in the counties bordering on the Louisiana line," O'Cain said.

"We believe that when the 21 purchasing age became effective in Mississippi, some of our young people began traveling to Louisiana where they are eligible to purchase alcoholic beverages. Fortunately, this practice has not been a large problem thus far because schools in session which limits their free time. By the time school recesses for the summer of 1987, Louisiana's law will be in effect."

"With Louisiana raising its purchasing age for beer and light wine, the access to alcohol for that age group will not be available from that source anymore," O'Cain said.

"Obeying the law, driving sober, paying attention, avoiding fatigue and wearing a seat belt may not guarantee a safe arrival, but very few of our officers ever unstrap a law abiding, sober, attentive, rested citizen who is dead behind the wheel because of a fatal automobile crash," he added.

New Gatekeepers program to assist the elderly

Elderly Mississippians, like older adults everywhere, face many problems. Often they don't know where to turn for assistance or they want to maintain an independent "I don't want to bother anybody" attitude.

In an effort to assist the state's frail elderly, the Mississippi Council on Aging (MCOA), Governor's Office of Federal-State Programs, is introducing a new program to bring persons working in the private sector, who come in contact with the elderly, into the aging services system.

The program, called Gatekeepers, trains persons working in the community, such as utility meter readers, customer service representatives, grocery clerks, mail carriers, pharmacists and others to spot vulnerable elderly persons who need assistance.

"Gatekeepers refers to the role of non-traditional referral sources in opening the gate to information and assistance for those vulnerable elderly who for various reasons may not seek services on their own behalf," said Dr. David K. Brown, MCOA director.

"We're excited about what this new program can mean to our growing elderly population. While many are healthy, active people involved with family, community groups and other activities, others are not so fortunate. Many live alone, have little contact with others and are unable to function independently. It's this group that will benefit the most from the program," he added.

Gatekeepers began in the fall of 1983 when Puget Sound Power and Light Co. in Bellevue, Wash. joined with the Washington State Bureau of Aging and Adult Services to bridge the gap between needy elderly customers and social services agencies.

Earlier this year, the U.S. Administration on Aging awarded the Washington State Bureau of Aging and Adult Services a public/private sector collaboration grant to assist other state units on aging to develop local Gatekeepers programs. MCOA is coordinating program development for Mississippi.

The program was introduced to local utility company representatives, city fire department personnel, telephone company employees and law enforcement officials at a Nov. 18 meeting in Jackson. MCOA officials will seek statewide participation next year.

One important aspect of implementing the program, according to MCOA Gatekeepers Coordinator Willie Ruth Thompson, is the fact that companies can put Gatekeepers into action with very little money or time. No additional staff resources are needed, and existing employees can be trained in one hour.

"Gatekeepers are not expected to be social workers or counselors, and they don't need to know a lot of details about social services programs," Ms. Thompson said. "They need only know what danger signs to look for and a telephone number to call for assistance. We hope anyone concerned about older persons will become involved in the program."

For information on Gatekeepers, Ms. Thompson may be contacted at the Mississippi Council on Aging, 301 W. Pearl Street, Jackson, 39203-3086, phone 949-2013.

Scholarship awarded

Sherry Phillips, a sophomore art major at the University of Southern Mississippi, has been awarded the Mississippi Gulf Coast Craftsmen's Guild Roy Pittman Memorial Scholarship for the 1986-87 school year.

Miss Phillips is the daughter of John L. Phillips of Gulfport and Mrs. Jean Shirley of Atlanta, Ga.

The scholarship is funded by a $10,000 endowment donated to the USM Foundation by the MGCCG.

Miss Phillips, who has consistently been on the Dean's List at USM with a 3.7 grade point average, is a member of two scholastic honor societies, Phi Eta Sigma and Alpha Lambda Delta. She graduated with honors from Gulfport High School where she participated in several art competitions, winning first place in two state-wide poster contests.

In thanking the MGCCG for honoring her with the scholarship, Miss Phillips wrote of the guild's interest in the future of young artists: "This interest is an encouragement to me because it exemplifies a pride about the field of art and a faith in students to develop their talents."

The MGCCG also sponsors an annual arts and crafts scholarship at William Carey College on the Coast.

JACKSON—Development will be a top priority for Mississippi Ballet International, Inc. (MBI), as a new governing board begins plans for the IV USA International Ballet Competition.

With the curtain barely down on the highly praised and successful 1986 competition, MBI officials are focusing on the future as work now gets underway for hosting the quadrennial dance extravaganza for a fourth time when the event returns to the United States and Jackson in 1990.

MBI officials hope that the interest and excitement that surrounds each competition can be extended to spark intervening years and other MBI activities.

While other host cities in the competition cycle - Varna, Bulgaria; Helsinki, Finland, and Moscow, USSR, are completely government-supported in staging their events, the U.S. competition relies primarily on private funding.

A new campaign is now underway by MBI, the U.S. competition's producing sponsor, to seek and secure increased local participation and support as plans for 1990 evolve.

"With ours being the only competition that is not completely government-funded, it is particularly important that we create and nurture a strong sponsorship base," says Jackson attorney Warren V. Ludlum Jr., newly appointed chairman of the MBI board for the 1990 competition.

"It is also imperative that Jackson, as well as all of Mississippi, is aware of what a great honor it is to host this cultural event of international importance."

To capitalize on the strong support and interest of local businesses and individuals that was evident during the 1986 event, a development committee has been created, headed by Jackson independent oil producer William D. Mounger. A goal of $900,000 has been set for local fundraising and the campaign to reach that amount is now underway.

These efforts will be combined with statewide, regional and international fundraising programs to provide the necessary monies to stage the fourth U.S. competition.

Fundraising plans are aimed at meeting an anticipated overall budget of $1.7 million for 1990 in addition to covering operational expenses for the MBI administrative office and a variety of interim benefits and activities being developed between now and 1990. Shortfalls from previous competitions totalling $154,000 will also be retired as part of the current fund drive's goals.

"The members of the development committee know that the competition engenders the most favorable publicity and recognition both nationally and internationally for Mississippi of anything that occurs in this state," says Mounger. "Be it therefore the committee is determined that the funding goal will be exceeded so that 1990 will even surpass 1979, 1982 and 1986."

The development committee, members are Mounger; Ludlum; H. C. Bailey, president, H. C. Bailey Companies and Security Savings and Loan Association; Alvis Hunt, president, Trustmark National Bank; Mayor Dale Danks Jr.; Stewart M. Irby, president, Stuart C. Irby Company; Donald Lutken, chairman and the board and CEO, Mississippi Power & Light Company; E. B. "Bud" Robinson, chairman of the board, Deposit Guaranty National Bank; Tom B. Scott Jr., president and CEO, Unifirst Bank for Savings, F.A.; Leland Speed, president, Eastover Corporation.

Also, Richard McRae Sr., chairman of the board of CEO, McRae's, Incorporated; H. Henry "Hap" Hederman, president and chairman of the board, Hederman Brothers; Harry Strauss, president, Homestead Savings and Loan Association; Margaret Barrett, vice-president, Jackson City Council; Paul Latture, executive vice-president, Jackson Chamber of Commerce; Tom P. Estes, executive vice-president, LeFleur Cadillac, Incorporated.

Joining Ludlum as officers of the newly installed board are Mrs. W. T. Hogg, vice-chairman; Harry Strauss, president; Mrs. Marilyn M. Beach, corporate secretary.

"The enthusiasm these competitions generate is clearly evident leading up to and during each event, but the process of putting one together, all the nuts and bolts of a major international cultural gathering is a long, careful process that requires tremendous work and capital," says Strauss, MBI's new chief administrative officer.

"The actual event is a gem that must begin in the rough, and we want to see to it that more appreciation is realized for the year-round, four-year process of staging the U.S. competition. In doing so, we hope to produce a wider and more substantial base for the many activities that this undertaking creates."

Other board members are Mrs. Doris Brickell, Lyle Cashion, Mayor Dale Danks Jr., Dr. Mel Evans, Steve Grantham, Larry Johnson, Mrs. Bern Keating, Mrs. Jona Keeton, Paul Latture, Mrs. Helen Ludlum, Ms. Thalia Mara, Ms. Vickie Miller, William D. Mounger, Dr. William C. Norris, Mrs. Jennifer Packer, Dr. John Peoples, Tom B. Scott Jr., Albert Simmons, Mrs. Heber Simmons, George Smith, J. R. "Dick" Smith, Ben Strickland, Mrs. J. W. Underwood and Mrs. William Whittington.

Formed in October of 1978 as an independent, non-profit corporation, MBI staged the I USA International Ballet Competition in Jackson the following year.

As a result, Mississippi's capital city has since enjoyed the distinction of being the only designated U.S. host location.

MAE survey shows many problems with state's teacher evaluation

"The implementation of the Mississippi Teacher Assessment Instrument (MTAI) is not improving instruction in our schools; in fact, administrators and teachers agree that the implementation of the MTAI is taking too much time from student instruction," says Alice Harden, president of the Mississippi Association of Educators (MAE) in announcing the results of a survey conducted by MAE on the controversial teacher evaluation system now underway in all Mississippi public schools.

The result of the MAE survey point out problems with the MTAI that include:

—the implementation of the evaluation system takes too much time from actual student instruction.

—Information and materials for using the MTAI have been delayed in reaching the schools.

—Information coming from the State Department of Education has been confusing and conflicting.

—the implementation of the MTAI has caused frustration and eroded the morale of many classroom teachers.

The MTAI was adopted by the State Board of Education as the instrument to be used in evaluating teachers for 1986-87. If teachers successfully complete the MTAI they are then eligible for a salary increase in 1987-88 if an increase is appropriated by the state legislature.

"The MTAI was not designed to evaluate all teachers. It is an instrument to be utilized for teachers seeking initial certification. The unrest and apprehension caused by the inappropriate application of this procedure to career teachers could be the greatest disservice to public school employees and their students of this decade," states David Bongiolatti, Executive Director of the 13,000 member MAE.

In addition to conducting the survey of school principals and teachers, the MAE has presented workshops to over 5,000 teachers in the last month, to provide information about the implementation of the MTAI.

"Our feedback from teachers and administrators alike, shows very clearly that Mississippi was not adequately prepared to initiate this type of evaluation system during the 1986-87 school year," comments Mrs. Harden.

The MAE visited the State Board of Education in October to ask that the Board reconsider their decision to implement the MTAI.

In advocating for local school system teacher evaluations, the MAE is following the lead of the National Governors' Association that in a recently released report said that each governor should lead their state toward providing teachers with higher salaries as well as a real voice in decision-making and an active role in designing assessment procedures at the local school level.

"Many school systems in Mississippi already have more than adequate teacher evaluation systems. By imposing the MTAI on these school systems, we have discounted the good work that teachers and administrators have done in assessment of instruction," declares Bongiolatti.

Teachers have complained that it takes undue time to prepare the portfolio (lesson plans) and the written responses to the questionnaire that are part of the MTAI. Some teachers have reported that it takes them as much as sixty hours just to prepare the portfolio.

Besides the written portfolio and questions, teachers will be observed by their administrator for one class period to determine whether or not they are demonstrating proficiency in the 42 areas that are scored in the MTAI.

Service contracts may not be worth it

MISSISSIPPI STATE—If you got an appliance or home electronic item for Christmas or you have given one as a present, don't be surprised if you also get a service contract.

"If one wasn't purchased when the product was bought, don't be surprised if the store calls you to try again to get you to purchase one," said Bonita S. Bridges, an area consumer management specialist with the Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service.

Service contracts or maintenance contracts are extensions of a warranty that cost money. They are usually found on appliances, home electronics, autos and cameras.

There isn't any standardization in the industry so contracts differ in service and price, Mrs. Bridges said. The type of product, age of product, and the person or company selling the contract determine the price.

Mrs. Bridges provided some tips on whether to buy a service contract.

Compare terms of the warranty with the service contract. Does the contract cover items not covered in the warranty or has the warranty expired? Do the two overlap?

What specifically is covered by the contract? Look for things such as parts and number of service calls.

Will in-home service be more expensive than in-shop service?

Is the service center conveniently located?

What will happen to the contract if the product is sold or given away?

How much more will the contract cost if it is purchased after the warranty expires?

Who or what company is responsible for fulfilling the contract?

Generally, service contracts are renewable at the expiration date.

"Service contracts are something of a gamble," Mrs. Bridges said. "If you choose to buy a service contract you are betting the product will break down. If you choose not to buy a service contract you are betting on the product's reliability."

NASA's Robert Bruce named 'Federal Employee of the Year'

NASA's Robert Bruce, project manager in the Facilities Engineering Office at the National Space Technology Laboratories, is one of two Gulf Coast residents named 1986 Federal Employee of the Year.

Bruce shares the honor as co-winner with Thomas Graham, a training specialist at Keesler Air Force Base.

The annual award is sponsored by the Mississippi Coast Association of Federal Administrators to recognize an outstanding federal employee on the Gulf Coast.

Bruce serves as project manager in the Test Support Management Branch and was cited for managing "the most significant modification project to be accomplished at NSTL in recent years." The $7 million project involves the modification of the B-1 test stand which was built for testing the first stage of the Saturn V space vehicle in the 1960s. The modified stand will give NSTL a third capability to static-fire Space Shuttle main engines individually.

NASA's nomination of Bruce stated, "The fact that he has been assigned to manage this complex project which utilizes both NASA and contractor manpower is evidence of the high degree of esteem and respect which his superiors and peers have for him."

Bruce has worked for NASA at NSTL for the past three years and during that time has been honored for outstanding performance in Space Shuttle facilities engineering. He previously worked for Pam Am's Shuttle Projects Division at NSTL.

A 1974 graduate of the U.S. Naval Academy, Bruce has a bachelor's degree in aerospace engineering and also earned a master's in engineering management from Tulane University.

He serves in the U.S. Naval Reserve as a lieutenant commander and was recently named commander of a reserve unit stationed aboard the USS John Hancock based at Charleston, S.C.

In addition to his professional accomplishments, Bruce was cited for being "highly committed to the education and encouragement of children to grow into useful, civic-minded citizens." As a board member of the Bayou View Elementary School PTA in Gulfport, he reinstituted the annual science fair in which more than 130 students participated. Most recently he served as chairman of the computer purchasing committee, recommending computer systems for the PTA-provided computer lab.

Bruce, a native of Hattiesburg, resides with his family in Gulfport.

SMOLDERING FIRE—Bay St. Louis Fire Chief Andrew Lizana shows where firefighters had to rip off outer boards on a rental house at 266 St. Francis Street to extinguish a smoldering fire which evidently started at the hot water heater. Lizana said the hot water heater had apparently been installed flush with floor or the floor had rotted and the legs fell through. Adora Flores was the tenant in the frame house and Leroy Peterson of Bay St. Louis is the owner. Damage to the house is considered minor. (Staff photo by Brenda Heathcock)

POISON PEN

Miss Marple investigates a rash of poison-pen letters in the next "Mystery" serial, "The Moving Finger," beginning at 8 p.m., Sunday, Dec. 28, on Mississippi ETV.

When a letter is found with a suicide note next to the body of the local solicitor's wife, the police and villagers are convinced she killed herself. But Miss Marple is not so sure.

"The great thing in all these cases," Miss Marple explains, "is to keep an absolutely open mind. Most crimes you see are so absurdly simple. This one was. Quite sane and forward—and quite understandable in an unpleasant way, of course."

Joan Hickson stars as Miss Marple.

Gulf Coast Debutante Society marks twentieth anniversary

The Gulf Coast Debutante Society will observe their 20th anniversary when they hold their annual ball on Monday evening, December 23, at the Biloxi Hilton Grand Ballroom.

Twenty-eight young ladies from the three Gulf Coast counties will be presented by the Debutante Society at this time. Included in the group are two debutantes from the Bay St. Louis and Pass Christian area. They are:

LAURE TANNER

Laure Tanner is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Van Ness Tanner of Bay St. Louis and Tallahassee, Fla. Her maternal grandmother is Mrs. Randolph Brown of San Antonio, Texas.

Laure, as she is known to her friends, is a junior at Florida Southern College in Lakeland, Fla., where she is majoring in advertising and public relations. She is a member of Kappa Delta sorority and was president of her pledge class. She is a member and current vice-president of Florida Southern Public Relations Club.

Harlaxton College in Grantham, Lincolnshire, England was the site of a mini-semester in England. From there she toured Europe.

Prior to graduation from Our Lady Academy in Bay St. Louis she traveled in Mexico and Costa Rica with her Spanish class. At OLA, Laure received the four-year sports award and was layout editor of the yearbook. She was a member of the Princess Shop Teen Board.

MICHELLE TODD

Michelle Lais Todd is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter N. Todd of Pass Christian.

She is a graduate of Our Lady Academy and is a junior at Louisiana State University in Baton Rouge, La., where she is majoring in international trade and finance. She plans post-graduate work at Stanford University in California.

Michelle is a dean's list student and is a member of Alpha Lambda Delta and is an officer in Delta Zeta sorority. She was a member of the Panhellenic Council and was nominated to the top ten freshmen at LSU.

Ms. Todd is a little sister of Lambda Chi fraternity and is active in the Campus Crusade for Christ.

Her hobbies include swimming, which she has taught for eight years, and water skiing. Travels have taken her throughout the United States and Europe.

Patenotte-McComiskey

Mrs. Grethel Garriga Patenotte of Pass Christian announces the engagement and forthcoming marriage of her daughter, Karen Lynn Patenotte, to James Lamar McComiskey, son of Mr. and Mrs. John A. McComiskey of Bay St. Louis.

Miss Patenotte is the daughter of the late Edward E. Patenotte Jr. The bride-elect is a graduate of Coast Episcopal High School and Mississippi State University. She is a sales associate with ERA Bayshore Realty.

Mr. McComiskey is a graduate of Coast Episcopal High School and Centenary College. He is a client representative with Southern Credit Recovery Inc.

The couple will solemnize vows in an afternoon ceremony February 21 in Our Lady of the Gulf Catholic Church.

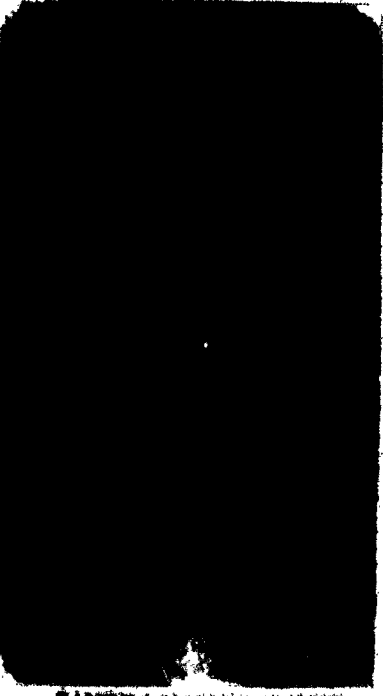

MRS. NORWOOD BYRON STRAUGHAN

Straughan-Ingalls

St. Christopher Catholic Church in Metairie, La. was the setting for the November 28 marriage of Suzanne Marie Ingalls and Norwood Byron Straughan. The Reverend Louis P. LeBourgeois officiated at the evening ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Ingalls of Metairie. The groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. James W. Straughan of Metairie and Kiln, Miss. His grandparents are the late Mr. and Mrs. William Bertucci of Bay St. Louis.

On return from a wedding trip to Florida, the couple resides in Metairie, where the groom is employed in the family business, C & S Iron Works Inc.

SANDRA KAY ZEIGLER

Zeigler-Guiterrez

Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton B. Zeigler of Waveland announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Sandra Kay Zeigler, to Diego Fernando Guiterrez, son of Mr. and Mrs. Luis A. Guiterrez, son of Mr. and Mrs. Luis A. Guiterrez of Beckley, W. Va.

The bride-elect is a graduate of Our Lady Academy. She was graduated from the University of Southern Mississippi with a bachelor of science degree in computer science. She is a second lieutenant in the U. S. Air Force at Offutt AFB in Nebraska. She is a computer analyst.

The prospective groom is a graduate of Lafayette High School in Ocala, Florida. He was graduated from West Virginia Institute of Technology, where he was a member of Phi Kappa Phi and Tau Beta Pi honorary fraternities and Sigma Phi Epsilon.

Mr. Guiterrez is a student at the University of Nebraska, where he is pursuing a master's degree in mechanical engineering under a research assistantship.

Our Lady of the Gulf Catholic Church will be the setting for the January 3 marriage at 2 p.m.

Take Off Pounds Sensibly

TOPS No. 213 Pass Christian met Dec. 16. Top loser for the week was Jo Ann Cuevas. This was the second week in a row for her to be top loser. Cuevas also received a charm for 18 pounds loss.

Our Christmas contest "Light Up the Tree" winners were Melonie Walkman, Betty Burke, Barbara Davis, Lila Hanson and Marijane Carlin. They each received a special Christmas tree ornament.

Total loss for the club for the week was 244 pounds. The club welcomes anyone interested in weight control to come visit. Weigh-ins are between 5:30 and 6:30 p.m.

The meeting is held every Tuesday at the Pass Christian Library on Elbert Avenue between 6:00 and 7:30 p.m.

For more information, call Jeannette Livings at 428-9706 or Lois Van Dyke at 467-6382.

Clubs, Auxiliaries

Diamondhead Garden Club

A short business meeting preceded the salad/dessert luncheon which the Diamondhead Garden Club held in December.

The Favorite Golf Course Garden was awarded to Mr. and Mrs. Frank Stagg.

Mrs. Dixie Ogden, winner of the quilt that had been made by members of the Pass Christian Garden Club, brought it to display to those who had not seen it.

Mrs. Clarence Evans brought and distributed to each member small red and green net packets of Philippine Lily seeds.

It was announced that Ms. Jean Keen, club president, was now a nationally accredited Flower Show Judge, having recently completed all requirements. Plans to establish a garden center in one room of the Community Center were discussed, and will be acted on in January.

Students from the Diamondhead Academy came to the meeting and sang Christmas carols under the leadership of Mrs. R. B. Boatright. Each member brought a gift for those in the nursing home in Bay St. Louis, and the winner of the most attractively wrapped gift was Mrs. James Hobbs. Several games were played and then luncheon was served.

Crafty Homemaker's Extension Club

The Crafty Homemakers' Extension Club met on Monday, December 15, at the Main Street Baptist Church Fellowship Hall. The meeting was opened by the president, Mrs. Minnie Geiger, followed by the Pledge of Allegiance; and the Homemakers' Creed was recited by the members. Mrs. Roslyn Weathers read the minutes, which she followed up with the treasurer's report. The election of the officers for the year, 1987, were as follows: president, Mrs. Minnie Geiger; vice-president, Mrs. Ethel Mae Fillingame; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Roslyn Weathers; Mrs. Beatrice Ladner, scrapbook chairlady; Mrs. Helen Pahlmann, photographer; and Mrs. Crystal Schaeffer, membership.

The Crafty Homemakers' received a Certificate of Thanks from the 4-H Clubs for their donation. The meeting was then adjourned and the members sat down to a "covered dish" lunch. Mrs. Ladner introduced the games that were played and a lot of laughter was heard from the members. Gifts were then exchanged and the members left with best wishes for a Merry Christmas and a healthy and Happy New Year.

Hancock Women's Club

The Christmas luncheon meeting of the Hancock Women's Club was held on Thursday, December 11 at the Bay-Waveland Yacht Club, with Julia Loup, vice-president, officiating.

The meeting was opened with the Lord's Prayer. There were 30 members present, plus two guests, Marge Jones and Norma Dyer. There was an exchange of gifts among the members and numerous door prizes were awarded.

A committee was chosen to purchase individual Christmas gifts for the 31 children who are in foster homes in Hancock County. This is in response to an open letter published in The Sea Coast Echo from the director of the Hancock County Dept. of Public Welfare requesting help for these children for Christmas.

Members were reminded to bring serviceable clothing to the next meeting which will be held at the Waveland Library on January 8. Goodwill will have a box at the meeting to receive our clothing donation.

Disabled American Veterans Chapter No. 50

By Dr. Esther Oschmann
Publicity Chairman
DAVA Chapter No. 50

Disabled American Veterans Chapter No. 50 of Bay St. Louis recently held a joint meeting with the Auxiliary to celebrate "Burning of The Mortgage" on the Post Home on Union Street.

Chapter Commander Roland Wohlschlegel and his wife, Unit Commander Hazel Wohlschlegel introduced officers and guests as follows: Louis Maloney, first vice commander; Herbert Shiyou, second vice commander; Hugh Sanford, adjutant; Jessie Burns, immediate past commander; Mayor Victor Frankiewicz; William Stewart, and John Wilkerson, Ward 4 councilman and his wife, Lou Wilkerson.

Mrs. Wohlschlegel introduced Jeannie Garcia, unit first vice commander; Dr. Esther Oschmann, adjutant; Aloise Shiyou, treasurer; Mrs. Ann Davenport, DAVA adjutant of the Department of Mississippi and her husband Mr. Wayne Davenport.

Also Mrs. Marius Ladner, DAVA second junior vice commander of the Department of Mississippi; Mrs. Mattie North, president of the American Legion Auxiliary No. 139 of Bay St. Louis, and her husband D.W. North of Post No. 139.

Others present were unit executive committee women, Mrs. Genevieve Cole, Joan Mitchum and Verdalee Kilmar; Evelyn Burns and Marie Cheny, both past unit commanders. Mrs. Nell Sanford and Lelia Curry were present.

Those who took part in the burning of the mortgage were Mr. and Mrs. Jessie Burns, Mr. and Mrs. Herbery Shiyou; Mr. and Mrs. Pat Cheney; Louis Maloney and William Stewart.

These people were instrumental in obtaining the building which is now the DAV Post Home No. 50 at 303 Union Street in Bay St. Louis.

A covered dish supper was served.

Clermont Harbor Handcrafters

The annual Christmas luncheon was served at the Catfish House. Marilyn Dupont, Gloria Treadway, and Irene Graff out did themselves this year. Many thanks ladies.

Christmas at The Harbor was carried out with the excellence of their past performances.

The entire club owes those members much for the many hours and tender care in which they planned the festivities.

Games were played and every one went home with at least one prize. Our next meeting will be on January 8.

German students learn traditional Christmas art

The German classes of Coast Episcopal High School have helped make the Christmas season special by creating unique candy decorated houses for use in holiday decorations.

Each house, though similar, is different in its finished design says Karola Williams, German teacher.

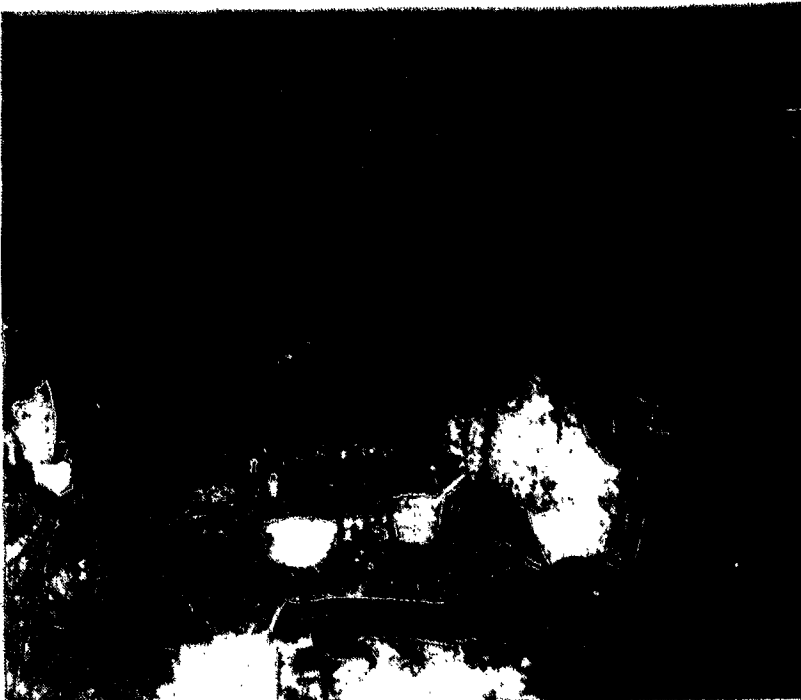

Mrs. Williams, who was born in Frankfurt, Germany, learned the art of making gingerbread houses as a young child and has adapted those skills to cookie and candy houses.

The German students at Coast make the houses in school and sell them to raise money for class field trips and attendance at the State Foreign Language Fair.

To make a house, the students start with a cardboard base. They use at least six boxes of powdered sugar to make the "glue" for each house plus a variety of hard candy, peppermint sticks, gum drops, M & M's, and an assortment of cookies.

Many hours of work are needed for each house, but it's a labor of love, says Williams.

"Plus they get to eat a piece of candy or two in class and that helps," she added.

'Speaking Oracles of God'

By W. Edwin Kearley, Minister

501 Pine St.

Bay St. Louis

The Holy Spirit is sinned against by quenching him.

Paul said, "See that none render evil for evil unto any man; but ever follow that which is good both among yourselves and to all men. Rejoice evermore. Pray without ceasing. In everything give thanks: for this is the will of God in Christ Jesus concerning you. Quench not the spirit. Despire not prophesying. Prove all things; hold fast that which is good. Abstain from all appearance of evil." (1 Thess 5:15-22)

The Holy Spirit is a flame in our hearts to enlighten us, to purify us, and to consecrate us. He does this through the word he inspired the biblical writers to write.

We may quench or snuff out this holy flame by violating the law of brotherly love, by failing to rejoice, by failing to pray, by neglecting to give thanks. How dark is the heart when this flame is snuffed out!

The Holy Spirit is sinned against by lying to him. Luke records, "But a certain man named Ananias, with Sapphira, his wife, sold possessions, and kept back part of the price, his wife being privy to it, and brought a certain part, and laid it at the apostle's feet."

But Peter said, Ananias, why hath Satan filled thine heart to lie to the Holy Ghost and to keep back part of the price of the land." (Acts 5:1-3) when he gave a part under pretense of giving all. He wanted the reputation all without doing the deed. Had Peter not been inspired about the matter, he could have deceived man. But he could not deceive man.

Ananias lied to the Holy Spirit

In Hebrews we read, "Neither is there any creature that is not manifest in his sight; but all things are naked and open unto the eyes of him with whom we have to do." (Heb. 4:15)

When Ananias tried to deceive the Holy Spirit, he did not escape his detection. He and his wife came at separate times with the same lie. The result was that they were struck down dead.

All hypocrisy is lying to the Holy Spirit. When we pretend to be what we are not, we sin against the Holy Spirit.

The Holy Spirit is sinned against when we resist him. Stephen in speaking to the Jews said, "Ye stiff necked and uncircumcised in heart and ears, ye do always resist the Holy Ghost: as your father did so do ye." (Acts 7:51)

The Spirit is a holy power, striving to lead and direct us. The Jews, to whom Stephen was speaking, resisted him when they refused to yield to this power.

Quitters are winners

This New Year, millions of smokers will make resolutions to kick the cigarette habit. The Mississippi Lung Association says this is the best step a smoker can make for the New Year.

Cigarette smoking has been called the "legacy of death" since the men and women who became addicted to cigarettes in their youth are now, decades later, paying a tragic price for years of assaulting their lungs with cigarette smoke.

Many of the healthy young people who today are addicted to cigarettes will be added to future lung disease statistics.

On a more positive note, per capita consumption of cigarettes is declining. While more and more smokers are conquering the difficulties of quitting, the percentage of adults who never smoked is also rising steadily.

Even a few puffs on a cigarette disrupt the flow of air and blood in a smoker's lungs and also slow down the lungs' defenses. The constant bombardment of cigarette smoke on delicate lung tissues is the chief cause of chronic bronchitis, emphysema and lung cancer.

The Mississippi Lung Association is committed to improving the respiratory health of all Mississippians. The Christmas Seal People ask you to "Take Care of Your Lungs—They're Only Human."

For your health and for the sake of those you love, start the New Year off right and don't fill your lungs with smoke. Clean air and healthy lungs are an unbeatable team!!!

For special information on how to quit smoking or for "Thank You for Not Smoking" desk cards and posters, contact the Mississippi Lung Association, P.O. Box 9865, Jackson, Ms. 39206 or telephone 362-5453.

ETV Brief

LIVE FROM THE MET

"Live from the Met" begins its tenth anniversary season on public television with a live telecast of Johann Strauss Jr.'s "Die Fledermaus" at 8 p.m., Wednesday, Dec. 31, on Mississippi ETV.

The cast includes Kiri Te Kanawa, Judith Blegen and Tatiana Troyanos.

A masked ball at the lavish palace of Prince Orlovsky provides the setting for the comic complications in "Die Fledermaus," resulting when Rosalinda, her admirer Alfred, her husband Eisenstein, his friend Falke and her maid Adele engage in harmless bouts of trickery, jealousy, flirtation, seduction and philandering.

LEADERSHIP TRAINING—Representatives of Our Lady Academy Student Council recently took part in a South Mississippi High School Student Council workshop at the University of Southern Mississippi. Officers of the

Diamondhead Academy students have German pen pals

The students in the fourth, fifth and sixth grades at Diamondhead Academy have found new friends, in West Germany.

In September Peter Smith and his wife Sandi went to West Germany, where Peter had a scientific paper to present. The Smiths' daughters, who are both students at Diamondhead Academy had wanted a pen pal.

Smith thought it was such a good idea he arranged for all the students in the fourth, fifth and sixth grades to have a pen pal.

While visiting in the town of Marktschellenberg, Smith went to the town school. After talking with the headmaster and outlining what he wanted he was given the names of all the students in the fourth grade and the address of the school to send letters to.

With the aid of a German phrase book the students at Diamondhead Academy wrote a letter to the child whose name they were given.

This week the answer came back, written in German with the English translation on the back. The translation was done by the German teacher's 19-year-old son.

Many of the German students sent pictures of themselves and their homes, as well as maps and booklets.

The Diamondhead Academy students are busy composing their letters and taking pictures to send back.

They can write them in English this time, now that they know someone can translate. All the children are excited at having a friend of their own in another country.

The town of Marktschellenberg is in the Alps, two kilometers from the Austrian border and five kilometers from Salzburg, the home of the composer Wolfgang Amadeus Mozart. It is situated in a valley with the mountains rising around it.

Many of the students at the German school come from villages high in the mountains and come into town each day. It is an area of breathtaking beauty where the opening and closing scenes for the movie 'The Sound of Music' were filmed.

Teachers get a B from students

The leaders of education's clients—students—give teachers a B on their report card, believe that alcohol and marijuana are significant problems among teenagers, but do not think cocaine is and do not feel that discipline is the problem that the American public says it is.

These were among the results of the 1986 NASC Student Attitude Poll administered to 1,500 secondary school leaders attending the 50th annual conference of the National Association of Student Councils (NASC).

The students included class and club officers, student government representatives, yearbook and newspaper editors, and band and orchestra members and ranged from seventh through 12th graders. NASC is sponsored by the National Association of Secondary School Principals.

"These are the people who directly experience the school's product and sometimes have a better feeling about the school environment than adults do," said Dale Hawley, director of student activities, NASC. "We believe that the student viewpoint should be heard as America moves to strengthen our schools."

If the tables were turned and students were filling out report cards, most teachers would earn a grade of B. Forty-eight percent of the NASC delegates awarded a B to their teachers, while 36 percent gave their teachers a C. Ten percent indicated teachers should get an A, and three percent each gave D and F's.

Making instruction interesting and clearly explaining subject matter are by far the most important qualities in making teachers good, according to the students.

When asked to list three qualities that contributed the most to making their best teachers excellent, 62 percent selected "makes subject matter interesting" and 60 percent said "clearly explains subject matter."

Among other qualities of excellent teachers were: spends time with individual students, selected by 39 percent of the delegates; knows subject matter thoroughly, 35 percent; sense of humor, 33 percent; grades fairly, 25 percent; nice personality, 24 percent; keeps class under control, 22 percent.

When delegates were asked to select the qualities of their worst teachers, 23 percent named "does not explain things clearly," 12 percent said "unfriendly personality," and 10 percent each reported "lacks control of class" and "does not understand students' needs."

Alcohol is a much bigger problem among teens today than drugs, according to the NASC delegates. Sixty-one percent reported that "drinking alcohol" was a significant problem of their peers, while 26 percent did not view it as such.

These students feel that marijuana also was a problem, but by a much slimmer margin. Forty-three percent identified it as a problem, 36 percent said it wasn't, and 22 percent were not sure. Cocaine is not perceived as a major concern. Sixty-seven percent do not believe cocaine is a significant problem, 19 percent were not sure, and 14 percent felt it was.

The Art of Receiving

By Randy Weaver

Special to The Sea Coast Echo
As Christmas roles near, I once again find myself delirious with the spirit of giving—a most fascinating feeling. I give and give, trying to recapture the intoxication again and again. I humbly tell myself that it's purely altruistic, but the price I charge is euphoria—I need to feel good!

"It's better to give than to receive" and well it should be, for when receiving, we're usually stuck with a potholder or another genuine hand-painted faux-necktie (both of which are interchangeable). In giving, however, we're overcome with joy; partly due to the euphoric feeling, but mostly because someone else will have to wear the potholder noose.

As a parent of very young children, I can not readily make a judgment such as: "It's better to give than to receive" since I've had little experience in receiving during the past five years. It comes back I'm told; like riding a bicycle (probably the one that Santa forgot to bring me).

In parenthood, I've learned how to give (children are such demanding little tyrants).

Yet in giving so much of myself, I have forgotten how to receive. Graceful receiving is an art in itself.

I remember as a child acting very surprised while opening a present and telling my parents how pleased I was to be the recipient of a brand new pair of reddish-brown oxfords and may I please exchange them for ice skates.

Dad then salted the rink I worked long and hard on in the back yard to take away my need for skates and thus end my despair. He was great! Only a thoughtful father would do such a thing.

Other episodes, such as this, led me to become the gracious receiver I am today. I emerged a facilitator of happiness and joy. I allowed others to rid themselves of guilt, anger, frustration, whatever, and filled their hearts with gladness by humbly accepting whatever trash they threw my way.

This is what I must become again, for I did achieve happiness in promoting the happiness of others.

In this day and age, we all have a skeleton closet of some sort and giving helps relieve the anxiety—we want to feel good about ourselves.

We also tend to believe that our friends will be happy only if we bestow upon them a gift; not so. Think about it. They achieve their happiness the same way we do—they need to give.

With all this giving going on, someone has to do the dirty work; someone must be this reliever of anxiety, this facilitator of joy; yes, someone has to be the humble appropriator of worthless tokens.

We could all use a little coaching in the receiving department. First of all, if you'd really like to refund someone's guilt and cheat them of their joy, simply exchange the gift down at Joe's dollar store where it was purchased.

Caution: be cagey. Givers are not dumb. They're apt to inquire as to the whereabouts of their measly endowment months later.

Seriously, if you must exchange a gift, tell the giver so the moment you open it. Hesitation will hurt your feelings as well as theirs. Something like this usually works well:

"Oh, thank you. You're so thoughtful. I admire your generosity. Tell me, is this a potholder or a necktie?" You may wish to rephrase this statement somewhat, but I'm sure you understand.

Thank them for their thoughtfulness and kindness, thank them for giving, that's what it's all about. The gift itself is merely a symbol—a vehicle by which they express their ineffable emotions.

Remember, don't pretend to like something you don't. Phoniness is easy to spot. Not only will it insult the giver's intelligence, it will also inhibit the act of giving from fulfilling its purpose. It will focus on the gift rather than on the giving, therefore, if the gift is not well liked, the receiver will not have done his job of relieving anxiety and bringing joy to the giver.

Receivers must express joy and gratitude not in owning a certain inanimate object, but in the receiving of such aforementioned object.

With children, it is a little more difficult. Youngsters don't understand the psychological depths of receiving (probably a damn good thing for parents).

If we reject a gift from a child, we reject the child. Every parent knows this. No father, I'm sure, has ever returned a six-inch-wide necktie with polka-dots the size of quarters that his child gave him for Christmas. (By the way, Dads, this is the only reason these ties are even manufactured.)

Yet, almost as bad, we hang them in our closet alongside the others we never wear. Children want to feel good about themselves, too. They're simply trying to express emotions of love.

So, this Christmas when I opened the parcel concealing the hideous throat garb, not only will I be engrossed with delight, I'm actually going to wear the damn thing (Saturday mornings exclusively).

It just occurred to me that children may be smarter than we think. Perhaps there is an ulterior motive and giving is just a facade. That motive being, of course, to watch Dad squirm with humiliation. I realize now why I've been saving these ghastly gratuities—I'm going to wrap them up and give them back in about ten years.

Ho Ho Ho!!! MERRY CHRISTMAS!!!

Knights of Columbus Council No. 7087 Auxiliary

The Ladies Auxiliary Knights of Columbus Council No. 7087 recently sponsored a Senior Citizens Thanksgiving Dinner at the KC Hall on Hwy 603, Kiln. A dinner was served followed by Bingo.

Ms. Rebecca Cuevas, 87, and Mr. Nicholas Ladner, 94, received gift certificates for being the two oldest people in attendance. Food and gifts were donated by the Ladies Auxiliary and the Knights of Columbus.

Homemade in Mississippi

Statehood Day promotes foods

By Karen L. Moore
Mississippi Cooperative
Extension Service

MISSISSIPPI STATE—Feeling good about Mississippi and tasting specialty foods produced in the state were the order of the day at the recent Statehood Day held in Jackson at the Mississippi Trade Mart.

Sample foods at the giant event included muscadine wines and jellies, candies, catfish, rice, quail, chicken, cheese, seasonings, sweet potatoes, sausage, potato chips, baked beans, bread, cakes, milk and ice cream. The event was sponsored in part by the Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service.

"The governor invited us to attend," said Vickie Fiorinelli, owner of Vicki's Fine Chocolates in Cleveland. She estimated attendance at 1,500.

Fiorinelli is in the seventh year making chocolate treats, available in her shop or by mail order. She is currently looking for more space in Cleveland to accommodate her growing mail order business.

"My business is very seasonal—Christmas, Valentine's Day and Easter—so I'm very busy now," she said.

Several booths, including Fiorinelli's featured items just introduced to the market.

One of Fiorinelli's new items is a Mississippi-shaped sucker in dark milk chocolate with white chocolate trim. Her "Taste of Mississippi" basket includes Mississippi minis, a peanut-zel bar (crushed pretzels and toasted peanuts), cream and butter fudge and the Mississippi sucker.

Many of her items are hand painted.

The Winery Rushing of Merigold, still doing well with its muscadine wine and wine muffin mix, now has scuppernon juice. Participants at the event got the first taste before the juice becomes available in gourmet shops.

"We came especially to introduce this muscadine-type juice," said Diane Rushing, who owns the Winery Rushing with her husband Sam.

She said her wine muffin mix has sold 7,000 21-ounce bags since it was introduced a year ago. It's sold in most parts of the country, except for the Midwest.

"It's one of the few products going from Mississippi to California, instead of the other way around," she said.

Another new product of the Rushings' is stone ground cornmeal made from Mississippi-grown corn. Unlike most cornmeal, the Rushings' has no preservatives added.

Delta Rose Rice Co. of Benoit incorporated its business the day before just in time to provide samples of its new breed of rice.

"It's a long-grain rice grown in Mississippi," said Hughes Williams, a plant breeder who spent 15 years getting the genetics correct.

The rice is a variety that came from Pakistan and has a popcorn-like smell when it is cooking. Currently it is available only in specialty shops and by mail order.

A fairly new product in Mississippi is dressed quail produced by Larry and Linda Jones at Port-Q-Elne Farms in Mendenhall. They sell, quail fresh and frozen and also hickory smoked that can be shipped anywhere in the country.

Since they started the business 16 months ago, Larry Jones said demand for the product has been "extremely positive." Their next project is a quail pate.

"It's a good time to talk about Mississippi products, considering the foreign trade situation," said Kerry Hamilton, owner of Golden Pond catfish processors in Greenwood. "Many food products are made right here in Mississippi."

His four-year-old company sells breaded catfish to chain restaurants.

"I was right out of college and wanted to do this," he said. "It was hard at first because I was trying to sell breaded catfish to people who were used to fresh, but it finally caught on."

The event was designed to make Mississippians aware of the good things going on in the state. Each participant was designated as an ambassador to spread good news about what Mississippi is doing.

Gov. Bill Allain cited studies saying Mississippians needed a better image of themselves to project a better image to the rest of the country.

Gov. Allain mentioned some of the state's problems and the efforts to correct those problems. He cited the state's program to fight illiteracy as being recognized as outstanding across the country.

"We can't compete and outrun other states if we don't have pride in ourselves," he said. "No one else will have pride in us if we don't."

ANTI-APARTHEID

"Mandela," a documentary chronicling the past 30 years of the anti-apartheid movement among South African blacks, will be rebroadcast at 9 p.m., Tuesday, Dec. 30, on Mississippi ETV. It was first broadcast on ETV this past June.

The program also includes the turbulent 1950s and early '60s when Nelson Mandela emerged as the African National Congress' key figure. He remained in the forefront of the struggle until his imprisonment in 1962. His wife Winnie Mandela has been one of the foremost activists in the struggle against apartheid. She is also the focal point of "Mandela."

ROBERT SHAW'S Christmas Festival features America's choral master conducting the Atlanta Symphony Orchestra and Chorus in a program of hymns, carols, and instrumental selections from around the world. The program also features the Morehouse College Glee Club and the Young Singers of Cullmanville Wednesday, Dec. 24, 9 p.m., Mississippi ETV, Channel 19 Bixler.

NOTICE TO MOTOR VEHICLE OWNERS

Legislative Enactment Requiring Odometer Disclosure on Transfer of Motor Vehicles

The Motor Vehicle Title Law was amended by the 1986 regular session of the legislature. Mississippi is now among the majority of states requiring the transferor of a motor vehicle to make an odometer disclosure statement. A new certificate of title issued by the State Tax Commission after January 1, 1987, will include the odometer reading as part of the required descriptive data identifying the motor vehicle for which the certificate of title was issued.

The changes in the law require:

1. The transferor of a motor vehicle to make an odometer disclosure statement either:
  - a. on a notarized bill of sale, including the odometer disclosure statement, "in a form approved by the State Tax Commission,"
  - b. on the previous certificate of title if there are provisions for odometer disclosure in the assignment and warranty of title by the transferor, if not then by notarized bill of sale, as described in 1 (a); and
  - c. For each transfer which has intervened since the previous certificate of title there shall be included as a supporting document a bill of sale in a form approved by the State Tax Commission including a completed odometer disclosure statement.

This office will be happy to assist those individuals selling or transferring a motor vehicle, in order to comply with this new legislation.

Assessor/Tax Collector,
Hancock County, Ms.

Phillips names administrators

Dennis Dollar, director of Phillips Junior College, reports appointment of two new administrators at the Gulfport campus.

Raymond Hanser Jr. of Gulfport has been appointed director of student services.

Jay Lambeth of Long Beach has been appointed director of admissions.

Hanser, who received his bachelor's degree from the University of Southern Mississippi and master's degree from William Carey College, brings 12 years of experience in public education to the college.

Lambeth holds a degree in business administration from Sand Hills college in North Carolina and brings ten years of management experience to his office.

Both appointments are effective immediately.

In making the appointments, Dollar said, "Mr. Hanser and Mrs. Lambeth are outstanding additions to our administrative staff. Their experience and abilities will be tremendous assets in our continued growth and progress at Phillips Junior College."

Deaf/blind children sought for special ed program

The Department of Mental Health, through its Residential Deaf-Blind Program at Ellisville State School, announces a renewed effort to identify children with both severe hearing and vision defects.

The "childfind" seeks to identify all individuals between birth and 21 years of age who meet the legal definitions of both deafness and blindness.

Only Mississippi residents with severe learning-disabling deafness and blindness and eligible through this program for special education and rehabilitation services.

Following an initial evaluation, the most appropriate educational placement is selected for the deaf/blind student, in the least restrictive environment. Except for the most severely impaired, usually students remain in their homes with educational opportunities provided by their local public school.

Referral may be made by school officials, physicians, parents, or anyone who knows of a child with severe multiple sensory impairments.

Referrals should be made to Georgia Granberry, Program Coordinator at Ellisville State School, 477-9384, or to the Program Director, Chigee Cloning, Ph.D., at the Bureau of Special Services, Department of Education. 359-3498.

The Deaf-Blind, the Blind, and the Deaf is an inter-agency undertaking involving the Department of Mental Health, Department of Education, the Mississippi School for the Blind, a number of public school systems, and Vocational Rehabilitation for the Blind.

The Project receives funding from state appropriations and a federal grant administered by the Department of Education.

The program is composed of year-round residential placements at North Mississippi Retardation Center in Oxford, Ellisville State School in Ellisville, a nine-month residential program at the School for the Blind, in Jackson, a non-residential school-year program in the public school.

School systems currently providing services are Jackson Separate School District, Meridian Separate School District, Jackson County Schools, Hattiesburg Separate Schools, and Jones County Schools.

These school systems receive technical assistance through the program. An example of such assistance would be training teachers in specialized instruction techniques.

The Deaf-Blind Project started in 1971 when Ellistville State School received a federal grant to evaluate the need in Mississippi for services to multiply-impaired children. Even at the start, the program had a support from the Department of Education and Vocational Rehabilitation for the Blind.

In the early seventies, Mississippi Jaycees provided funds for an evaluation center on the campus of Ellisville State School. Gradually, the program has encompassed all phases of services to multiply-impaired children and adults, including: evaluation, education, pre-vocational and vocational training, sheltered workshops, group homes, job placement and independent living with "shadow" supervision.

Other important participants in

SIGNING LANGUAGE—Eight-year-old Shawn Gibson of Hattiesburg and Linda Cubley, director of the Speech and Hearing Clinic at the University of Southern Mississippi, are signing basic sentence patterns in an upper-level elementary class. The clinic is designed to help deaf children develop or improve language skills as soon as possible. Preschool children learn through play therapy, and the clinic serves as an elementary school for deaf children.

Pass Christian schools introduce new program

Students in the Pass Christian School District are being exposed to a new look in the curriculum this Fall: an integrated program of writing instruction at all grade levels.

Based on a scope and sequence of instruction expressly for Pass Christian students, the program incorporates other language skills into instruction in the writing process.

Designed by teachers in language arts and English representing all of the Pass Christian Schools, the program reflects a year of systematic study in state-of-the-art research in writing and writing instruction.

The teachers have just concluded a summer institute, culminating their year-long study with researchers in composition theory devoted to instructional design.

They are breaking new ground. A systematic scope and sequence based on developmental skills has been commonly used in mathematics and to some extent in other sciences, but it is new to writing instruction.

Few, if any, school districts in the United States have developed such an instrument. But Pass Christian not only has a developmental scope and sequence in writing, it has a battery of extended lesson plans to implement the system.

Implementation entails incorporating reading and grammar into successively complex writing tasks. In grades K through 12 students will engage in extended activity projects that will involve them in writing and revising numerous drafts.

This drafting process will reflect reading tasks that help focus the writing, and the successive drafting by students will enable teachers to target instruction on grammar where and when it is needed.

The new integrated program has been developed by a team of approximately half the faculty in language arts and English, with the support of the administration and the guidance of composition specialists, a group of university professors and researchers from the National Faculty, a non-profit consulting organization specializing in instructional design.

Beginning in September the teaching teams and the National Faculty researchers will conduct the second half of a two-year grant with workshops to extend the new instructional program to all of the language arts faculty at Pass Christian.

Area students win awards in statewide art contest

Two Bay St. Louis students were local school winners of Blue Cross & Blue Shield of Mississippi's "Design For Good Health" art contest.

Tommy Cheney is the local winner for grades 4-6, and Mark Gagnon was the winner for grades 1-3. Both are students at Bay Catholic Elementary School.

The "Design For Good Health" art competition was open to all elementary, junior high and high school students throughout the state, and is part of the health care organization's ongoing program to promote physical fitness as a means of holding down the rising cost of health care.

"We believe a healthy public is a cost containing public," said Aaron J. Johnston, president of Blue Cross & Blue Shield of Mississippi.

"If we can encourage good health habits while helping to eliminate the bad, then this preventative step will go a long way toward holding down costs," he added.

LITTLE MISS—Keisha Roxanne Moran, 5, daughter of Candy Moran of Bay St. Louis, was crowned Little Miss in the 2-4 year old division of the recent Hancock County Fair Pageant. She holds 14 first place titles in Mississippi, eight in Louisiana, and six runner-up titles in the two states. She also holds a first place national title.

GRADUATE DEAN— William B. Davis, PhD, has been appointed to the position of dean of the Graduate School and director of research at the University of South Alabama. Davis, originally from Gulfport, began at USA in 1974 as a faculty member of the College of Medicine. He has also held various administrative positions at the university, most recently as associate dean and director of graduate studies in the College of Allied Health Professions.

ORATORICAL WINNERS— Two Bay Senior High students, Amy Fayard and John Dowden, recently competed in the American Legion National High School Oratorical Contest sponsored by American Legion Post 139 in Bay St. Louis. Fayard, a senior, won first place. The purpose of the Oratorical Contest is to develop a deeper knowledge and appreciation of the Constitution of the United States on the part of high school students. Fayard will represent Post 139 in the district contest which will be held in Gulfport on Feb. 7.

PUBLIC NOTICES

BECAUSE THE PEOPLE MUST KNOW

ORDINANCE NO. 32

AN ORDINANCE REGULATING INSTALLATION AND CONSTRUCTION OF UNDERGROUND FACILITIES

BE IT ORDAINED BY THE GOVERNING AUTHORITIES OF THE CITY OF BAY ST. LOUIS AS FOLLOWS:

SECTION 1: That a section of the Code of Ordinances, designated as Section 17-20, is hereby created to read as follows:

17-20. Installation and Construction of Underground Facilities.

a. In the interest of public safety, and to prevent damage to public utilities, the city finds that it is necessary to regulate all parties performing subsurface work within public rights-of-way, utility easements, and other properties occupied by city-owned facilities. This regulation is required in addition to that provided under Mississippi Code Section 77-13-1 through 77-13-15.

b. Prior to constructing or installing any underground facility on property owned by or occupied by city-owned facilities, a permit shall first be obtained from the city, upon application by the party proposing the work. The application shall include proposed locations and a description of any proposed protective measures to insure that the city's property and facilities will not be damaged, and can continue to be maintained without additional difficulty and expense.

c. As a condition for a permit, an applicant must first agree to the following:

1. To be responsible for any damages whatsoever to utilities, road surfaces, and any other public rights-of-way and facilities, regardless of the provisions of Mississippi Code Section 77-13-13 which would otherwise relieve the applicant of certain liabilities.

2. To pay line location and marking costs based on the scope of work required. Companies currently paying franchise fees or similar fees to the city are exempt from the line location costs.

3. A city representative is required on the job site anytime work is being done after normal working hours, and on weekends. The applicant shall reimburse the city for all costs for a site representative.

4. If utility outages are required, they must be planned with the city in order to give at least 72 hours notice to affected customers. For unplanned or accidental outages, the city will be reimbursed for actual costs, and other incidentals, plus $500.00 per day or any portion thereof, as compensation for service interruption.

5. The city will not be responsible for any future damages to the applicant's installation, it being understood that the applicant's subsurface work is being permitted for the convenience of the applicant, and that the city should remain able to continue the use and maintain its facilities unaffected by other installations now owned by the city.

6. To waive the notice requirements of Mississippi Code Section 77-13-5. The city shall endeavor to provide notice prior to excavation, and to avoid damages to underground installations as a matter of courtesy and convenience, but shall assume no obligation to do so, it being the intent of the city that the applicant shall enjoy the use of the city's rights at the applicant's sole risk.

7. To pay compensation as determined by the city. For utilities providing local service, it is the city's policy not to require compensation, unless the mayor determines that the proposed installation creates a significant risk and impediment for future subsurface maintenance required by the city. Compensation for others will be determined on a case by case basis, and shall be approved by the city council prior to subsurface work being initiated.

8. That all city property, be it rights-of-way, utility easements, or other properties owned by the city be restored to an "equal to or better" condition.

d. Maintenance work on all underground facilities existing on October 21, 1986, and installed under an existing agreement with the city is exempt from the application requirements of this section, provided that the requirements of Sections 17-20(c) 2, 3, and 4 shall apply. Further, all requirements of Mississippi Code Section 77-13-1 through 77-13-15 regulating excavations shall apply.

e. All existing underground facilities occupying city rights-of-way, easements, or other property without specific authorization from the city are hereby declared to be trespassing. The Mayor is authorized to negotiate after-the-fact agreements for such facilities in conformance with the purposes of this section, and present same for the council's approval. Where agreements are not reached, the Mayor shall give reasonable notice to compel removal of trespassing underground facilities, and to seek other remedies available under law.

SECTION 2: That all ordinances in conflict with this one are hereby repealed.

SECTION 3: That this ordinance shall be declared an emergency and thus shall become effective immediately in order to control and prevent damage to the city's underground utility system.

After being reduced to writing the foregoing Ordinance was read and considered, section by section, and then as a whole, whereupon Councilmember Thriftley moved for its adoption and after a second by Councilmember Wilkerson, the following vote was had:

Yea: Thriftley, Wilkerson, Johnson, Seymour and Coward

Nay: None

Whereupon President Coward declared this motion passed this the 21st day of October, 1986.

/s/ Lisa LeBon Coward
President

City Council
of Bay St. Louis, MS

/s/ Edward A. Favre
City Clerk

of Bay St. Louis, MS

SUBMISSION TO MAYOR:

I hereby certify that this Ordinance has been submitted to the Mayor in accordance with Mississippi Code Section 21-8-17(2) on this the 15 day of December,

Edward A. Favre
City Clerk

12-21-86

NOTICE TO BIDDERS

The Waveland Regional Wastewater Management District is requesting bids for upgrading and rehab work on the present laboratory/office building. This construction will consist of putting a brick face on the front of the building and installing a new roof on same.

Prospective bidders may submit sealed bids for the brick work or the roof or both. All bids will be received by the Waveland Regional Wastewater Management District at the office on Gulfside Street, Post Office Box 265, Waveland, MS 39676, until 3 p.m., January 7, 1987. Bids should be sealed and labeled "Brick", "Roof", or "Combined".

At 6:00 a.m. the same day bids will be publicly opened and read aloud.

Copies of the drawings and specifications may be obtained at the Waveland Regional Wastewater Management District office, 401 Gulfside Street, Waveland, Mississippi, telephone 467-3702. Someone is in the office each weekday from 7 a.m.-3 p.m. The District reserves the right to reject any and all bids.

12-21; 12-28-86

PUBLIC NOTICE OF 16TH SECTION LAND RECLASSIFICATION

The Hancock County Board of Education hereby gives notice of the reclassification of sixteenth section (school trust) land from forestry to recreation campus land located in Hancock County in compliance with the requirements of Section 29-3-37, Mississippi Code of 1972 (Annotated), as shown below:

Description: POB being an iron located at the NW Corner of Lot #382, Silver Creek Acres S/D, Hancock County, Mississippi and run North for 106.6 ft. to an iron, thence East for 66.4 ft. to the center line of Silver Creek, thence Southwesterly, along said center of creek to a point which bears east of the POB, thence run West for 624.6 ft. to the POB. Said parcel containing 1.5 acres and being a part of the SW 1/4 - SE 1/4 and the SE 1/4 - SW 1/4, Section 16, T.7S., R.14W., Hancock County, Mississippi.

Any interested parties desiring to object to this classification, or any part thereof, must submit their objection in writing to the Chancery Clerk of Hancock County on or before January 23, 1987.
